HODOO, IoT based Pet Healthcare Solution

Category	IoT device and Mobile service
Company	AHQLab Inc.
Email	lovetruly@myhodoo.com
Website	www.myhodoo.com

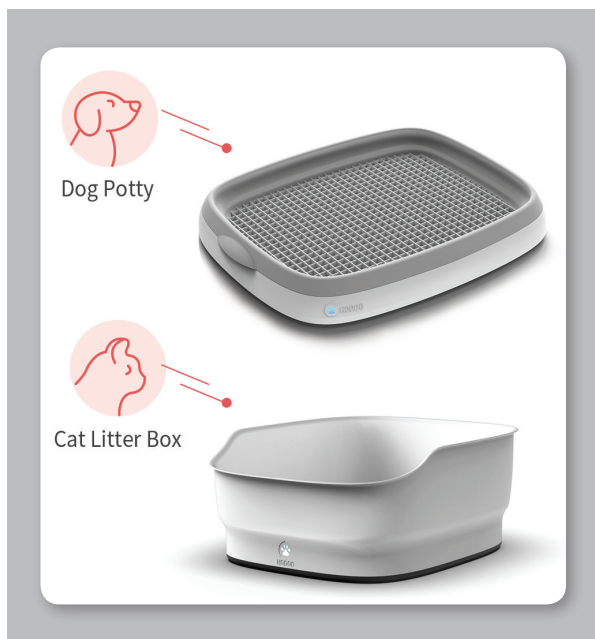

IoT based Pet Healthcare Service

Like us, many pet dogs and cats may have health problem and need to be managed carefully. Anywhere and Anytime. HODOO helps you care of them very easily in your daily life. Start with HODOO.

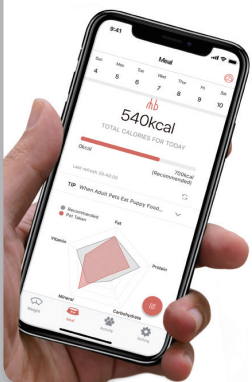

With common-used pet products, we check their health and provide you the specific service by mobile app.

HODOO's first product, the smart toilet is perfectly same with the common-used ones. However, it can measure the weight automatically while the pet is sitting on, and send this data to the cloud server by wifi communication. The toilet is water-proof of IPx5 and is running max 3 months using 4 AA batteries.

User app shows your pet's weight and degree of fatness anytime directly. From the pet's information and measured weight, we suggests the right way of feeding and exercise by our AI algorithm. It recommends the calory requirement, compares with your diet and analyzes the nutrition balance. Also, we gives proper exercise schedule for your pet and checks out periodically.

A hand is holding a smartphone displaying the HODOO app interface. The screen shows a 'Meal' summary for 'Today' with a total of 540kcal. Below this, there is a 'Diet' section with a progress bar and a '2000kcal (Recommendation)' target. A 'TIP' section suggests 'When Adult Pets Eat Potty Food...'. At the bottom, there are icons for 'Meal', 'Exercise', 'Potty', and 'Settings'.

(Coin cell Battery)

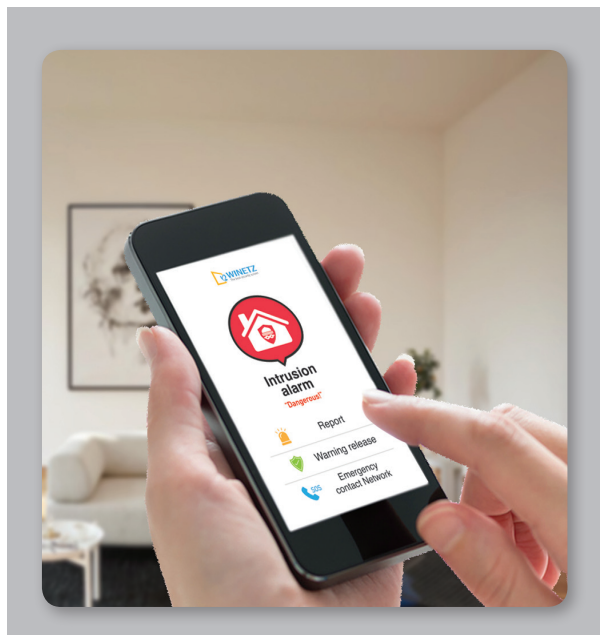

App
(Android/iOS)

Winetz sensor is comprised of door sensor and station.
When a shock or the intention of door intrusion is detected,
the door sensor lights up the LED and the station makes a sound, notifying the danger.

A recent technology suitable for the door sensor is Bluetooth Low Energy (BLE). We have solved the problem of existing BLE technology, the transmission distance, by applying Mesh Network techniques. Winetz sensor equipped with Mesh Network can expand the wireless communications by relay form.

Winetz application announces what the sensor detects to the user. It also allows the group registration. This application learns the life patterns of the users and sends the notifications in consecutive order. The Winetz application can set up an emergency contact list in order to contact immediately when there is an emergency.

Clovine provides you with always fast interface and reasonable price with Betel. Betel is our independent technology for Multi-Client Distributed Processing System.

The image displays four screenshots of the Clovine software interface, arranged in a 2x2 grid. Each screenshot shows a different functional area of the application:

- Approval: Shows a list of tasks or items with columns for status and actions.
- Dashboard of project: Features a line graph showing trends over time, along with several circular progress indicators and summary statistics.
- Assignment of Project Member: Displays a list of project members with their roles and associated tasks.
- Task Management: Shows a detailed view of tasks, including their status, priority, and assigned members.

The diagram illustrates the Multi-Client Distributed Processing System architecture. It features a central server node (represented by a database icon and a brain icon) connected to multiple client nodes (represented by computer icons). The connections are bidirectional, indicating data flow between the clients and the central server.
